Norma Berg wins 1987 Fair aggregate

Norma Berg totalled up section aggregate wins in Baking, Canning, Fresh Fruit, Flowers and House Plants to become the Elk Point Agricultural Society Fair 1987 Grand Aggregate Winner this past weekend. The fair was held at the Elks Hall, with a record number of visitors viewing the displays on Saturday, August 15.

Entries in the Senior Citizens section enjoyed a substantial increase this year, however some of the sections experienced a decline. Quality of the entries remained high, with several of the judges remarking that it was a "high standard fair".

Special attractions this year included a demonstration on edible garnish making by Jodi Vogel of the Elk Point 4-H Multi Club, who constructed a very attractive bouquet of vegetable "flowers" for a delighted audience. Mural artist Billie Lynn Milholland was on site with two panels of the mural, and soon drew a crowd to watch her bring a group of berry pickers to life with her brush on panel #8. Edith Mitchell was nearby with a colorful display of quilting techniques and designs.

St. Paul designer and tailor Rufina brought a selection of exquisite clothing for a display in the sewing section, while a display of Cree weaving rugs from Kehewin Cree Ations was set up near the Knitting, Crocheting and Weaving section.

Awards were presented Saturday evening to a very deserving bunch of exhibitors.

Baking convenor Irene Lindquist reported entries in 27 of 28 categories (there were no decorated cakes entered). She presented a gift certificate from the Empress Family Restaurant

GRANDMA EMILY'S RHUBARB — Is examined by her daughter-in-law, Frances De La O, at the homestead in the Moose Hills east of Kehewin Lake. Very near to the ancient rhubarb plant is the cellar hole marking the site of the Ludwig's cabin.

Ludwigs discover roots

Descendants of Rudolf and Emily Ludwig, who homesteaded the southwest quarter of Section 32, Township 58, Range 6, West of the Fourth Meridian, came to discover their roots Monday, with a reunion picnic at the site which had become home to the pioneer family 75 years ago.

Larry Ludwig of Washington, D.C., Leslie McPherson of San Dimas, California, and Lynne Roe of Rolling Hills, Alberta, are the children of Harvey Ludwig, while Sandi Lehnhard of Azusa, California is the daughter of Russell Ludwig. Harvey and Russell were the children of Rudolf and Emily Ludwig.

Also in the party who came to explore the homestead were Frances DeLa O, mother of Larry, Lynne and Leslie and formerly Mrs. Harvey Ludwig, Lynne's husband Jim and daughters Allison and Amanda, Leslie's daughter Tasha and Sandi's daughter Tanya.

The day dawned grey and unpromising but the clouds showed signs of breaking long before the visitors left the pancake breakfast, hosted by Sid and Muriel Holthe in their honor. Elk Point Mayor Byron Mann was on hand to welcome the Ludwig descendants, as were a good number of other residents of the district. All enjoyed fluffy butter-milk pancakes with homemade chokecherry syrup, home cured bacon, eggs and fried potatoes prepared by Prime Cut Catering of Elk Point.

The sun was shining brightly, with only momentary disappearances behind straying clouds, by midafternoon when the group reconvened at the homestead site, the Ludwigs having enjoyed a visit to the Kehewin Reserve in the interim.

Young and old took part in a variety of races presided over by Sid Holthe, while some of the men set up a horseshoe pitch, as the afternoon got underway.

An informal program by local residents and the Ludwigs, was videotaped for later viewing by the many members of the family unable to attend the gathering.

Irene Lindquist, a descendant of the Richard Jenkins family, who were the Ludwigs' closest neighbors, welcomed the family back to the Moose Hills. She introduced her brother Charles, who lives on the Jenkins homestead, and three of her cousins, one of whom recently purchased the Ludwig homestead. "Sixty eight years ago, Grandpa said goodbye to the Ludwigs." Mrs. Lindquist reminisced, adding that she was "pleased to welcome them back".

Frank Mayner of the Elk Point Historical Society added a welcome from the Society and presented the Ludwigs with Historical Society pins.

Larry Ludwig introduced the members of his family, while his cousin Sandi and her daughter Tanya displayed a beautiful handpainted family tree showing three generations. Tanya then expressed a hope for the future, with her song, "Tomorrow".

Ludwig expressed thanks to his Uncle John and Aunt Jerri, who visited the site in 1986 and subsequently wrote up a book about the "epic-like existence of our grandparents". He said the current journey has "brought the family closer together," not just those who came, but the rest of the family who were included in the planning for the reunion.

Ludwig thanked the Holthes and

Mrs. Lindquist for their help and support in the project, and conferred "honorary family membership", complete with hand-lettered certificates and "Ludwig Family Reunion" t-shirts, on the trio. Frank Mayner also received a shirt for his involvement.

Allison Roe read a report, written for school, about her Great-Grandmother, Emily Ludwig, who died last September, 9 days short of her 101st birthday.

Comments and messages from various members of the family, including 3 of the children of Emily and Rudolf, who were unable to attend the reunion, were read. Mary Bennett, of the Historical Society, read a typical letter that could have been "written back home by Moose Hills homesteaders", which was composed by Kay McAleese.

Sid Holthe related how the plans for the reunion had all come about, culminating in the old-style picnic "with the men playing horseshoes and the women making dinner".

Rudolf and Emily would be proud of their descendants," Holthe concluded, presenting Larry Ludwig with an engraved plaque showing the homestead's location, to commemorate the occasion.

Homemade ice cream cones kept hunger at bay and conversation flowed, while great kettles of moose and venison stew were heated up, to be enjoyed along with bannock, corn-on-the-cob and new potatoes, topped off with rhubarb sauce, berry pies, and Allison Roe's 11th birthday cake, as the celebration came to a delicious end.

to aggregate winner Norma Berg, and told the crowd that Bea Campbell was a close runner-up in the section.

Muriel Holthe, who convenes both the Canning and Fresh Fruit sections, presented the aggregate awards in both to Norma Berg. The Canning award was a hanging planter from Elk Point Co-op, while Tags donated the Fresh Fruit award of a picnic cooler. Mrs. Holthe noted that canning entries were down about one third this year, and attributed this to the late spring frost and snow, which also decimated the Fresh Fruit entries.

John Bennett commented that "the quality was good - but we had only two entries" in the Hay and Grains section. He presented Delores Zacharuk with the prize, a case of oil from John Wozniak Texaco Bulk Sales.

The Vegetables section convenor, Katharine Shymkiw, was also its winner, taking home a ceramic pie saver from Phil's Hardware. Mrs. Shymkiw reported "very good" entries this year.

Entries were down in the Flowers section, convened by Ivy Dunlop, who presented a plant stand and crystal bowl, donated by Albi Electric and Virginia's Hairport to aggregate winner Norma Berg. The House Plant section, convened by Rose Doucet, fared better, with entries in 37 of 43 categories. Gleaming brass flower pots from Macleods went to winner Norma Berg.

Edith Mitchell, convenor of the Arts and Crafts section, said that entries were down this year but quality was very high. Section winner Cheri Lindquist was presented with her prize from Elk Point Insurance by Lillian Demchuk.

Katharine Shymkiw was the winner of the well-filled Knitting, Crochet and Weaving section, which was convened by Ellen Seward. Mrs. Shymkiw's award was donated by the Toronto Dominion Bank. She was soon called back to the winner's circle to accept the aggregate award in the Sewing section, donated by Capital Drugs and presented by convenor Cheri Lindquist. Mrs. Lindquist said that Mrs. Shymkiw had entered 23 items in the section, which had entries in three quarters of the categories.

Convenor Grace Barwick of the Senior Citizens' Section was also named the section's winner, and accepted the Clifton Magnusson Memorial Award from Irene Magnusson. Mrs. Barwick noted a "great improvement" in the number of entries in the section this year, and urged the seniors to "keep up the good work".

Junior Fair entries were few but of high quality. Convenor of the section, Gaby Bayduza, announced that her daughter Margaret was this year's winner, and Gladys Drobot of Wagon Wheel Ranch presented the plaque.

Margaret Bayduza was also the junior winner in the Creative Writing section, joining adult winner Irene Magnusson to accept prizes from Lakeland Printing and Stationery from Convenor Vicki Brooker.

Fair Board Vice Chairman Sharil Baumgardner presented the Grand Aggregate awards. Second runner-up was Bea Campbell, receiving a prize from OK3 Bakery, while first runner-up Katharine Shymkiw took home a prize donated by Pan Canadian Petroleum. A prize from Westmin Resources and a plaque from Vogel's UFA, presented by Jodi Vogel, were presented to Grand Aggregate winner Norma Berg.

Mrs. Baumgardner conveyed special thanks to a number of people who helped to make the fair a success, including the door crew, Donna Babcock, who kept the coffee and snacks flowing, the Town crew who moved tables, etc., Imperial Lumber, who loaned styrofoam sheets for the displays, and Wolanuk's Fashions and Foods, who donated various props for the displays.

TROPHIES FOR ALL OCCASIONS — Shirley Harms of Woody's Trophy and Gift Shop proudly displays the handsome collection of trophies and plaques, now available at her store located between Macleods and Sew 'N Knit. An entrancing array of novelties and giftware for all occasions, along with cake decorating supplies, crepe paper streamers, and a photocopying service, are also available at Woody's.

Elk Point Fun In The Sun report

By Katherine McCowan

Once again the children in our program have spent an enjoyable two weeks playing, doing crafts and going on field trips. We have spent much of our playing time in the F.C.S.S. building gym due to the rain. Even though the space is limited, the children participate in basketball games, floor hockey, playing on the trampoline, pretending to be "ninjas" and making a lot of noise! One of the highlights for the kids was on Thursday, August 13, when Tammy and I brought the childrens' bicycles into the gym where they decorated them. Some of the kids who did not bring their bikes had just as much fun decorating themselves! Of course, when the decorating of bicycles and children was completed we had to take them outside to show them off. The children have also been involved in a variety of crafts. Some of the most popular ones being mobiles, created out of coat hangers and cut out shapes, and paper bag puppets. Another popular one was rockets made from toilet paper rolls, straws and paper.

Tammy and I would like to thank Karl Odland of the Elk Point Treasury Branch for taking ten enthusiastic children on a tour of the bank and showing them the various jobs involved. The highlights for the kids appeared to be seeing the vault full of money and eating a lot of donuts which were given to them at the end of the tour. Thanks again Karl.

In conclusion I would like to thank Carol Maas and Val Dale for donating some craft supplies to our program. Have a great weekend!

CODY KUREK — Proudly accepts a pocket calculator, which should be of value next year, for his 4-H Beef Club Junior Record Book work. Wayne Smith of the CBM Confectionery makes the presentation and congratulates Cody on his efforts.

Committee presents large print books

The Northeast Library System Steering Committee has presented about thirty large print books (value about $750.00) to the Elk Point Municipal Library. Nine other area libraries will also receive different selections, and all will exchange books every six months. While the materials will remain the property of the Steering Committee, they will thus be available for use by library patrons in ten Northeast communities.

Large print books are for anyone who finds standard print difficult or tiring to read. Collections include unabridged editions of romances, mysteries, western adventures, humour, etc.

Presently, seven area libraries exchange materials from their own collections in October and April. Those joining the exchange of Steering Committee titles may opt to join this existing exchange as well - and thus refresh their large print collections four times a year. Libraries which will exchange the books operate in Vegreville, Mannville, Two Hills, Elk Point, St. Paul, Vermilion, Chauvin, Bonnyville, Cold Lake and Wainwright.

For further information, contact Keith, Development Officer, St. Paul, R.I.T.E. 645-6255.

Another fine fair

Entries may have been down, but enthusiasm flourished as the Elk Point Fair culminated months of planning last weekend.

Quality of entries was excellent, with many outstanding exhibits drawing comments from the fairgoers. Despite frost, snow and drought, gardeners brought gorgeous flowers and splendid vegetables to be exhibited.

Canning was down, but the judges were impressed with what was entered. Farmers busy in the fields did not find time to enter their grasses and grains, but one farmwife found a few spare minutes and thus kept the convenor from "unemployment" on Fair day.

House Plants showed that thumbs are still green, while Sewing, Knitting and Crocheting, Arts and Crafts, Senior Citizens and Baking showed that fingers are still busy. Shutter fingers, too, were active, resulting in many fine Photography exhibits. The Creative Writers entries were few, but their poetry was excellent.

The fair, as usual, showed the result of commitment and hard work by the Fair Board: Success.

Congratulations to all the winners, and to the Fair Board, whose achievement shows them to be the biggest winners of all.

An unexpected holiday

Who? Me? - A fat little granny - snuggled into a sleeping bag on the back seat of a boat no bigger than our old camper, swinging this way and that as the east wind lashes waves whitecap high, the rain drums and thunder cracks and rolls, with 200 miles of slopping water in one direction, ten or fifteen miles to shore in the other three ... well, there was an island sheltering us somewhat ... Who would have thought it? Certainly, not I.

To explain all this: Mel is my number 1 son, who lives with his wife Aline near Fairview, where he is an electrician/instrument-minder/trouble shooter and Johnny-on-the-spot for Anderson Gas Co. To add to their stress and strain they also have a small farm, which they put into crop in their spare time, and with some help from two of their kids between university and summer jobs. Their other daughter is married and away.

After many years at the plant, he has built up a good long vacation entitlement, this year four weeks. The urge comes to 'get away from it all'.

Mel's many interests include a love of water and exploration of far-away places. Hence - the boat. Having built three or four boats with no major degree of success - i.e. they were lake-worthy, but not sea-worthy - he fell overboard for this overgrown cabin cruiser he saw for sale when visiting Sidney, B.C., last year. He and Aline went back later, bought it and trailered it home.

Several local lakes and a couple of Peace River excursions later, he was longing to wet its keel in the Athabasca - first the river, north from Ft. McMurray, then the vast lake itself.

Lake Athabasca is about 230 miles long by, variously, 20 to 50 miles wide. Near its western-most tip is Ft. Chipewyan, an early settlement, of some 1500 inhabitants, which will be celebrating its 200th anniversary next summer. Mel worked there as a Hudson Bay Co. store clerk for a year or so, about 30 years ago, and was as impressed as most 20 year olds would be with the adventure of it all, and well remembers many of the local families.

Even more impressed on his memory were the great red rocks along the shores, the sandy beaches, and the miles of open water he plied with his motorized canoe all those years ago. He wanted to see it all again ... this time in more comfort.

Convincing Aline that three weeks of the cramped conditions of boat living out on the water would constitute a summer holiday was hard. Convincing me was a pushover. The plot was mentioned last winter, but I gave it little heed, as my responsibilities were pretty close to home. But after my dear mother passed away on July 12, and the turmoil of the following weeks went by, they didn't have to coax me at all, when they renewed their invitation.

Of all the things my husband and I did together in past years, boating I have missed the most. There is simply no fun in going to lakes alone - even if I could manage a boat, which I can't. At best I could sit on the shore. In the scurry to get ready on time, to leave my yard and garden so it wouldn't be a jungle when I got home, and to do the 1001 things we all have to do when we plan to leave for a few weeks, I was quite busy. Advice poured in to "take lots of warm clothes" - so I did - far too many. Taking two sleeping bags was no crime, just a waste of precious space, and an error on my part, as I picked up both the one I intended to take and the one I had set aside to mend. Half the food prepared stayed in the fridge, but I remembered to take money and my camera and six rolls of film. Neither of which lasted out the trip, but were renewable.

Mel and Aline picked me up here, and we left about 10 a.m. July 23, in his old crewcab, to pick up the boat (stashed at Grassland on their way down from Fairview). We filled the truck with gas, and ourselves with food, I bought a Grassland pin, and we were off and away.

The roadsides were ablaze with fireweeds and clover, interspersed with yarrow, goldenrods, and paintbrush. The sky was never bluer, between the piled white clouds. There are a few miles of gravel between Bellis and Kikino, where we saw a minor dust storm, but otherwise - great pavement. Near Wandering River, which we passed about 4 p.m., we saw a stretch of near-white fireweeds, which I have only seen once before. Also the blue asters were showing in abundance.

We stopped at Mariana Lake for fill-ups and a rest. My camera and I wandered about. I saw ravens, whiskeyjacks, fern, flowers, and a mass of scentless camomile blooming in all their glory along the parking lot area. Along the nearby dugout bear tracks in the drying mud. This is a real "service" station, where they act and talk like they are glad you came. Very busy, with huge trucks in and out constantly.

We decided to stay at the Hangingstone River campsite, which is quite huge, well-kept, toilets far between, and no water in their well. Otherwise, we slept well on our first night in the boat, found most of our food, and awoke to a gentle rain, which soon ended. The campsite is on the edge of a deep coniferous forest, with ankle-deep moss, and kinikini underfoot.

Leaving the campsite about 8:30 a.m., we were soon treated to a super divided highway, and the city of Fort McMurray coming up. Here we spent the day, shopping, sight-seeing, and looking for a place to gas up the boat, after launching it in the Snye, where a dozen or so small pontoon-equipped aircraft were docked nearby.

Our enthusiasm for city planners at McMurray was somewhat dimmed, when we found a large, well-grassed campsite, with picnic tables galore, a dozen garbage barrels, but no toilets or water supply. We also had a very make-shift gas-fill for the boat, as we could not find anyone selling or delivering gas near the boat launch area. We might have been sitting there yet, if Mel hadn't seen a group of men with a gas barrel in a truck, getting ready to launch their jetboats, and they helped cart the gas in five gallon cans down to the boat from their barrel, a steep slope to go. And charged us nothing but the gas cost. We were quite grateful for their goodwill gesture. This done, it was late, so we went to a motel for the night, leaving for our grand adventure in the morning. On to Fort Chipewyan next week.

Hire-a-student closing

By Scott Prysunka
1987 Summer Placement Officer

The Elk Point Hire-A-Student office is closing for yet another year. This year Hire-A-Student had over 300 placements and over 400 student registrations in the Elk Point and St. Paul area.

The Hire-A-Student car wash in Elk Point was a great success. A thanks goes to Maurice Lafrance of Tag's Food and Gas for the use of his parking lot and water supply.

At this time the Hire-A-Student staff would like to thank all of the employers in Elk Point for their support. Without you the program would not have been a success. A special thanks goes out to Pat Vincent and the town staff for their assistance with the Hire-A-Student program and also to Vicki Brooker and staff from the Lakeland Review for their excellent coverage of the Hire-A-Student program.

Watch for the Hire-A-Student reopening in May 1988.

Racewalkers excel at championships

By Roger Burrows
Ottawa

Everyone was there. The sixteen women who lined up at the start of the 5k Race Walk event at the National Track and Field Championships here on August 1 were the very best in the country. All the five-member national team which took fifth place in the 1987 World Cup in New York, all the ones they defeated to win their places and a few talented newcomers.

Elk Point was well represented. In the first category was Janice McCaffrey, the 1985 National Champion and the second place Canadian in the World Cup. In the third category was Holly Burton, in her first year of competition and already minutes faster than Janice was at the same stage.

At stake were three places on the Canadian team to the World Track and Field Championships in Rome in September. Five women had already made the necessary standard. The selectors' job was to decide which two to leave at home. (While the World Cup is a competition between national teams, the World Championship is an even more select field of the best individuals).

Janice felt that, unless she totally blew it, all the others but one would have to come to her. The one was Ann Peel, whose only loss in a National Championship in the '80's was to Janice in 1985 and who has for years been consistently among the very best in the world.

So off she went in pursuit of Ann, breaking clearly away from the rest of the field and setting a furious pace through the first three of the twelve and a half laps. Ann also meant business from the start, probably intending to put her Canadian record under 22 minutes for the first time (she had improved it to 22:01 only three weeks previously).

With four kilometres left, Janice's body began sending urgent signals to her brain that it did not appreciate all this activity so early on! She dropped gradually back and continued at a more sedate (but still world-class) pace. She was soon joined by Alison Baker (a Canadian colleague from Kingston) and the two walked together until there were two kilometres left when Alison eased slightly ahead.

From that point, the top three proceeded uneventfully to the finish. Ann just missed her record attempt (22:11), Alison broke her own personal record by six seconds (22:40) and Janice, though drained by the early pace, still managed to come within a second of her previous best time (22:59). With no-one else really close to 23 minutes, the World Championship trio had selected itself, three veterans once again representing Canada as they have done so often in recent years.

Holly Burton has no respect! A "kid" in her third race ever has no business mixing it up with some of the best walkers in the country. Yet there she was, striding silkily along with the pack containing the likes of former international Micheline Daneau, B.C. Champion Sian Spacey and nationally ranked Quebecker Pascal Grand at well under five minutes a kilometre. Only in the fourth kilometre did her concentration and conditioning falter, allowing Grand and Edmonton walker Bonnie Boucher (another of the McCaffrey stable) to slip by. Nevertheless, her 8th place in a race of this calibre is truly remarkable. It even earned her a place as first alternate on the "23 and under" team which will compete in England later this month. She is unlikely to travel as the first two (Louise Aubin - 4th, and Lora Rigutto - 5th) have already confirmed, but it is nevertheless a major honour for such a newcomer to the event.

The "High Performance Centres" in this event appear to be, not Toronto or Montreal or Vancouver, as they are for many other events, but Brockville, Ontario and Elk Point. Each produced two finishers in the top eight. There was a lively debate at the athlete's banquet as to which community had title to Race Walking Capital of Canada. Brockville (pop. 20,000 with 10 to 15 walkers) has the numbers but Elk Point (pop. 1,200 with two walkers) has the per capita involvement. Whatever the demographics of the rival claims, the westerners won the Public Relations battle by producing a T-shirt proclaiming their supremacy!

Postscript: Shortly after the race, Janice broke the news of the sudden transfer of the family (Bill, Janice and ten-month-old Scott) to Calgary, effective at the beginning of September. The move is a career progression for Bill, who works for Amoco, and will give Janice educational and athletic opportunities she did not have in Elk Point. Nevertheless, it is an upheaval for the now flourishing group of Alberta Race Walkers, especially for the immensely talented Burton, who will lose day-to-day contact with her coach. All have vowed to overcome the different set of difficulties - race walkers as a breed are quite used to difficulties of many different kinds!

So, all the best to Janice in her new home. Residents of Elk Point who continue to follow her athletic career will know that there is a little bit of Elk Point in her future success. And, when you see Holly training alone, especially in the dark days of winter, give her a word of encouragement to help her on her way. There are a lot of people out here who have now heard of Elk Point, Alberta because of what they both have done!

The Ferguson Flat Ladies Club will be celebrating an anniversary this coming Saturday at Ferguson Flats Hall, 8 p.m., August 22. It's to celebrate 40 years of their ladies' club, something that is quite commendable for a small community. Some of the members are no longer around and new ones have joined through the years, but the club was kept alive and active. They hope that all members and friends will join them for a social evening to help celebrate 40 years of hard work and community dedication.

Spring Park is planning a potluck supper for members and potential members of the wagon train at Spring Park Hall, Sept. 12. Anyone with pictures or interest in "horses and wagons" is invited to attend.

The next day, Sept. 13, they will hold a poker rally and everyone is invited to take part. You can join with either a horse or wagon, fee is $10 per adult, $5 per child which includes a supper at Spring Park Hall afterwards. Poker rally prizes will be tack instead of money.

Greetings from the Mayor

Fellow Oilmen & Golfers:
It is my fortunate and great pleasure to welcome you this year, as the Mayor of Elk Point, to the Fourth Annual Elk Point Oilmen's Association Golf Tournament.
One year has brought many changes to the Association, its members, and the Town of Elk Point. Certainly, the oil industry in general is much healthier and local activity in the Lindbergh field is steadily picking up speed. The Elk Point Golf and Country Club has erected a new clubhouse after negotiating a long term lease with the Town. The clubhouse will be christened, at least unofficially, during this tournament. The Association and the golfers truly appreciate this improvement to the golf course which enhances this annual tournament.

Many thanks to the organizers and sponsors for donating their time and money, which are equally important in producing this tournament.
Good luck with your golfing and here's hoping someone can "ace" the new car hole.

Yours truly,
Byron Mann
Mayor of Elk Point

Dewberry celebrates sixty years

By Anne Elliott

The 60th anniversary of the coming of the railroad to the Village of Dewberry was held on July 25 and 26, 1987.

An excellent parade started the celebrations with many community organizations, businesses and individuals contributing.

Registration was received in the arena booth by the Greenlawn Goodwill Club, with 457 people signing the guest book. The members of club raffled a beautiful rose quilt depicting the Alberta rose and the coming of the railroad. The quilt was won by Arden Brock, grandson of Bill Brock.

A program was held at the sports grounds with the very capable Bruce Brock as M.C. Frank Smith opened the program with the singing of O'Canada. Mayor Gertrude Blacklock welcomed all to the celebrations. The Village was honored to have such fine dignitaries as the Honorable Don Mazankowski, Doug Cherry and Jiggs Goldsmith, who in turn gave greetings to the Village. Former mayor, of 21 years, Neal Jones was unable to be present due to surgery. Sgt. Ron Boothman, Cst. Kelly Applegate, Cst. Carmon McKnight and Cst. David Sharek, the four scarlet clad mounties of the parade, were introduced. All were raised in Dewberry and Heinsburg communities. Josephine Gray read poems of the early pioneers. The crowd was then entertained by: The Young Fiddlers: Andrea Fleming, Gina Fleming, Andrea Fox, Tanya and Landon Bowman; the HIS group: Deb Grey, Lorraine Whiteside, Shelly Johnson and Meredith Whiteside; and Ruben Johnson and Ron Fanthorpe on the banjo and violin. Allan Brown reminisced of the anniversary wagon train trek. Frank Smith concluded the program with God Save The Queen.

The Lion's then hosted a delicious come and go banquet of roast beef and all the trimmings. The Curling Club sponsored the dance in the arena with Grant West as the orchestra.

On Sunday morning the Dewberry Lions hosted a pancake breakfast. Meredith Whiteside organized a non-denominational church service with Bob Dybvig as guest speaker and the HIS group ministering in song.

The Dewberry Saints organized the ball tournament held on Sunday. Those participating were four local teams: Dewberry Saints, Haney's Hummers, Bowman Blasters and Todd's Ball Busters and also Fishing Lake, Landonville Limping Lizzards and the Canyonview Raiders.

Todd's Ball Busters took the "A" side over Fishing Lake and Dewberry Saints took the "B" side over Landonville Limping Lizzards. The ball was umpired by the very capable "NO SEE UM" Dennill and "Mad Dog" Hansen.

A heavy-horse pull went Sunday with four teams participating; Allan Bensmiller, Bruce Goldsmith, Allan Shanks and Allan Brown.

The Village was pleased to have at their celebration, the Anniversary Wagon Train who participated in the parade and events of the weekend. The wagon train travelled for six and a half days, went 90 miles from Lea Park to Frenchman's Butte to Onion Lake, Frog Lake and to Heinsburg, then ended at Dewberry's celebration.

Awards, being hand built clocks, were given at the dance for the wagon train members.

- Best Dressed: Louis Ouellette, Asquith, Sask.

- Hard Luck: Lyle Robinson, Stry, Alberta.

- Oldest Rider: Ganet Birch, Strongfield, Sask.

- Youngest Rider: Nathan Harewood, St. Paul, Alberta.

- Senior Horsemanship: Jackie Pat Brown, Marwayne, Alberta.

- Beginning Teamster: Billy and Rhonda Isert, Dewberry, Alberta.

Three anniversaries were celebrated along the route: Tom and Marion Ryan's 30th, Louis and Irene Brown's 40th and Mr. and Mrs. Dan Barnac from Botha, Alberta.

Chris and Allan Brown would like to thank everyone that helped to make the wagon trek a complete success and welcome everyone to a reunion on October 24, 1987 at the Ranch Room at the Lloydminster Exhibition Grounds for a supper and social. Plans have been started for next year, during the third week in July, 1988.

In celebration of Dewberry's 60th Anniversary, Ken's Auto and Diesel Repair raffled three draws: the winners were: oil change - Sharon Bates, 20 lb. propane refill - Guy Butz, 4 litre windshield washer - Deb Grey.

The Village of Dewberry would like to thank the following: the Greenlawn Goodwill Club for organizing registration; the Dewberry Board of Trade and especially Headley Dennill for organizing a great parade; all individuals and organizations who entered floats in the parade; Bruce Brock for being M.C. and for setting up equipment at the sports grounds; all the talent of the program; Dewberry's Lion's for an excellent supper; Curling Club for a great time of dancing; the Dewberry Lion's for organizing the pancake breakfast; Meredith Whiteside for organizing the church service; Linda, Keri and Loretta for helping with the children's races; Dennis Rewuski and the Saint's Ball Club for organizing a fun time of ball and to Eleanor Parr for all her work at the booth; Allan Brown for organizing the horse pull; Gordon, Brent, Rick and Don for helping with banners; and to everyone who helped in any way - thank you - you make our weekend a success.

NOTE: One of the entrants of the parade was the Islay Hospital float who are celebrating their 75th anniversary. Elsie Hanna and Dianne Grasdall portrayed 1912 nurses and Vyna Fluney and Sonia Dobranski portrayed the modern day nurse. Viola Haney, Dewberry Village, Islay Hospital representative, and maintenance man Ken Frizzel were at the helm.

Pioneer hosts annual banquet

By Phyllis Ewen

On June 24, 1987, Ralph McGray came from Santa Marie, California for his annual visit with friends in this area. Ralph, at the age of 97 years, is referred to as an "incredible fellow". He flew to Calgary and rented a car to drive to the Dewberry area. His friends each year look forward to his visit with pleasure. Ralph had homesteaded in the Riverton district from 1909 - 1922, coming west with his mother and two brothers from Nova Scotia.

On June 29, he hosted a banquet in the Brunswick Hotel in Vermilion for fifty friends, most being descendants of the early pioneers he had known and worked with. Ralph has carried on this customary tradition since 1935.

On arriving he contacted his right hand lady, Doris Spicer, who helped him organize the banquet. Doris was also his very capable Hostess for the evening, placing at the head table, Hazel Sunderland and Ellen Walker, daughters of pioneers Mr. and Mrs. Tom Lee, Dora Bentley and Madge Lynn, sisters of Bob Spicer, who had homesteaded across the road from him. Mrs. Jack Hansen and Mrs. Graham Skinner were placed on each side of Ralph, with Mrs. Maudie Wallington and Caroline Hurley, daughter of pioneer Lee Green, on the left.

Guests came from Edmonton, Foremost, Vermilion, Marwayne, Riverton and Dewberry.

Instead of the customary rose for the women, Ralph had placed at each plate a "scratch and win" lottery ticket. And who was the big winner of the evening - the host with a $5.00 win.

Rev. Jack Spicer, from Edmonton gave the blessing.

A short program with much reminiscing followed the delicious turkey dinner.

Ralph told how he had got one young lady from Edmonton interested in cattle. Today he owns rodeo stock and travels to about eighty rodeos in California.

He asked Howard Hines how he got his start in reaching and built his herd. Howard replied, "Get a cow, hang on to its tail and don't let go".

Harlan Green played the flute while everyone sang "Happy Birthday", "He's a Jolly Good Fellow" and this was followed by (what could be more appropriate) "Home On The Range".

Caroline Hurley (Green) gave an impromptu speech. "It is so good to share this opportunity to honor our rugged pioneer ancestors. We all have family trees whose limbs have inspired us. If it were not for Ralph McGray, 97 years young, helping keep alive these memories of dedicated families, with his generous gourmet hospitality these many years, we might forget, as our memories weaken with advancing age, we are inspired to live up to our heritage. After all, even if all of us cannot grow old gracefully, we can all grow old gratefully. Thank you, Ralph. We are deeply grateful to you for keeping the pioneer charisma alive!"

Edwin Tullson told of working for Ralph. He was a hard worker and expected you to do the same. A real neighbour!

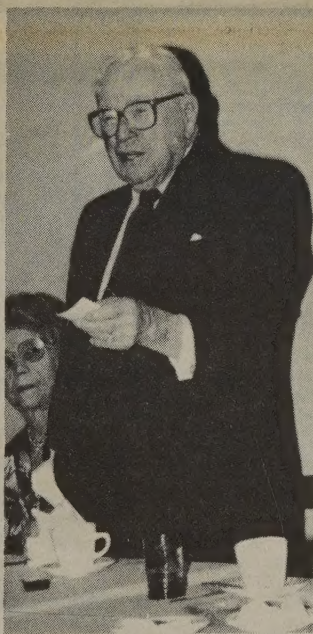

Melie Maltais told how they became acquainted two years previous. Ralph got himself stuck in a mud hole close by and landed at her door looking for help.

Graham Hansen, former bush pilot and recently retired aeronautical engineer teacher expressed his thanks for the evening. He told of his teaching experiences in Edmonton.

Ralph told of the first time he met Lee Green, at the first local picnic, where Lee had won the high jump. He had a different style of jumping and the crowd hollered and screamed that they wanted him disqualified! Now his style is the way professionals jump.

Mrs. Maudie Wallington kept everyone in stitches with her recitations. The crowd then requested her to recite "My First Ball Game". A favourite of many.

Many others took part in the program commenting on the wonderful spirit Ralph passes onto us all. This fine gentleman with his vigor and energy for living is an inspiration to us all. Ralph mingled among his guests swapping tales bringing a wonderful evening to a close, an evening that will long be remembered.

RALPH McGRAY — 97 years young, addresses his banquet guests.

Dewberry News

By Phyllis Ewen

Ted and Jean Brock from Toronto visited his brother Bill and sister Nina Smith at Dewberry. From here they were going on to Vancouver Island.

Karen and Rene Blais from Manning spent a few days visiting their grandparents, Bill and Lilian Brock as well as other relatives in the district. They enjoyed taking in the Dewberry Anniversary Parade.

A successful horse rally was held at Hodgson's Gopher Gulch Arena on Sunday, July 9. Forty-two riders braved the rain. Joyce Larson had the highest hand winning a trophy donated by Don Fluney of Ranchland Services and a purse of money. Gus Hodgson was second with Matt Hodgson winning third.

Congratulations to Randy and Carla Hegedus on the birth of their daughter in the Vermilion Hospital on August 12, 1987.

Cliff and Marg Cunningham are hosting a lawn party on August 22 from 7:00 to 9:30 p.m. They extend an invitation to come and celebrate your birthday or anniversary if they are in the month of August. The Lions and Lion's and their spouses are also invited. Following the party, lunch will be served in the Senior Citizens Centre at 10:00 p.m.

Russell Garnier had his aunt Kay McClenagan from Edmonton to visit. They had Kay's two brothers, Reinhold and Willie Klemik and family come over. Kay's son Buddy brought her down and visited with his friends Alvin and Gert Isert and took in the party for Mrs. Dennill, where he saw many others.
